It took place in Olympia the first weekend of November. The main focus of the Legislative Academy was to inform students on Legislative platforms in the community and technical college system. This was a great opportunity, and it gave students the chance to make connections with other student leaders across Washington State and exchange ideas. Their presentation was on the topic of undocumented students, and even though they didn’t win, they made others aware of the issue.
ASCBC, SAB Officer	Rosa Hernandez <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • On October 17th, the ASCBC hosted a tailgate party on the soccer field, prior to the women’s soccer game and volleyball game. Reports Access Monitoring Report	Joe Montgomery & Amanda Wysocki Enrollment: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • CBC continues to capture about 25% of recent graduates from local area high schools. Kamiakin High School was the largest feeder school in fall 2011, a change from previous years when Pasco was historically the largest feeder school. Much of this can be attributed to the opening of Chiawana High School, which split Pasco School District’s secondary students between the two schools. Together, Pasco and Chiawana provide the largest number of Hispanic high school graduates to CBC. E-learning: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Online enrollments are showing an upward trend. More students are attending CBC exclusively online (9.4%) and more students than ever are taking at least one class online (32%). • Methods and best practices for development of the Virtual Campus, which will include explorations of competency-based degrees, will be initiated this year. Student Ratings: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Overall, CBC continues to provide consistent and reliable access to those seeking educational opportunities in Benton and Franklin counties. Enrollments for the college remain at acceptable levels, meeting the college’s state enrollment allocation and the college’s internal enrollment goals. Distance learning continues to grow, almost doubling over the last ten years. Running Start continues to be an important source of enrollment for the college, with almost 18% of degree-seeking students taking advantage of this opportunity. • Student survey ratings of their experiences at CBC were moderately to highly favorable. • Expect student satisfaction to be higher next year because of improvements to the College website and the addition of Hawk Central, which will continue to fine-tune throughout the year to provide maximum customer service in areas of admission, registration, financial aid, counseling, advising, and other important student services. Conclusion: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Access to CBC remains vitally important to our community. Numerous studies predict that a full two-thirds of our state’s workforce will need to have some sort of post-secondary credential, certificate, or degree. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Will have addendum to this report in December. • Joe will update numbers on hybrid classes.
