

Request the writer's permission before forwarding or reposting a personal message. When you receive a personal message, you shall not send it to another person without the permission of the writer.